

Jaime Guzman, MD MSc FRCPC

Dr. Jaime Guzman is a pediatric rheumatologist, physiatrist and clinical epidemiologist with education and qualifications in Canada and Mexico. He is currently staff rheumatologist at BC Children's Hospital and Clinical Associate Professor of Pediatrics at the University of British Columbia in Vancouver.

Dr. Guzman's research is in the clinical epidemiology of musculoskeletal injuries and diseases. His current focus is the course and prognosis of children with juvenile idiopathic arthritis. Work to date includes 60 peer-reviewed papers and 20 funded research grants, six as principal investigator. According to Google Scholar, more than half of his papers have been cited repeatedly, including a paper in BMJ cited more than 500 times, and a collection of papers in Spine cited more than 1000 times.