

Dr. Glen Hazlewood

Dr. Glen Hazlewood is a rheumatologist and Clinician Scientist at the University of Calgary.

He completed his PhD training in 2015. His research is centered around trying to understand the benefits and harms of treatments for rheumatoid arthritis and how patients' preferences can be helpful in trying to choose between different treatment options.